CaseWare International Announces Integration Between CaseWare Working Papers and Capital Confirmation

Toronto, Ontario and Brentwood, Tenn. – October 16, 2007 – CaseWare International Inc., the leading global supplier of engagement, reporting and analysis software, and Capital Confirmation, Inc., a leader in online authentication and authorization services, announce the collaboration of technology to enable accounting firms to further streamline the audit process and further enhance the paperless audit. The integration allows CaseWare users the ability to perform secure online confirmations directly from CaseWare's Working Papers through the access of Capital Confirmation's CONFIRM™ technology. CONFIRM technology provides a fully automated audit confirmation process.

"We are excited to announce the interface between CaseWare Working Papers and the CONFIRM solution. The interface with CONFIRM provides an end-to-end audit confirmation solution for our users that will improve the effectiveness and efficiency of their audit workflow process," said Dwight Wainman, President, CaseWare International Inc. CONFIRM technology provides an effective automated confirmation process that ensures privacy and security of confirmation communications and offers a sound infrastructure for authenticating all parties involved in the confirmation. Direct access to validated responders increases the reliability of the confirmation response and has been shown to significantly improve efficiency through shortened turnaround times.

"It is critical for auditors to continue to improve upon their audit process and the combination of the Working Papers solution and the CONFIRM service is a major achievement for the auditing profession," said Clark Hudgins, Vice President at Capital Confirmation, Inc.

"CaseWare has always provided innovative solutions to the accounting profession," said Chris Schellhorn, CEO of Capital Confirmation, Inc. "The integration between the CaseWare suite of services and the CONFIRM service is another significant step forward for the next generation of streamlined audit workflow solutions."
